World Cup Starts

As with many countries, we know that the start World Cup this weekend brings lots of excitement although for some great fear. It is well know that unfortunately significant sporting events do not always bring the best out of some people. This half term, our PSHE sessions have been around celebrating differences. These lessons help support children's understanding of what diversity means and how to celebrate difference rather than make judgements based on what they think they know. For parents requiring support please looks on parents tab on the school website.
